

DATA PROTECTION AND CONFIDENTIALITY

The policy of Technical Rescue International with respect to data protection is detailed in these Terms and Conditions, and its Privacy Notice which should be read in conjunction with these terms and conditions of the contract.

Where Services are certified training courses, the Client consents to allow Technical Rescue International full access to examination results arising from their bookings. This information will be used in accordance with the requirements of relevant data protection legislation. The data will only be used to evaluate the effectiveness of training and to assist Technical Rescue International in providing advice to its clients.

All Intellectual Property associated with training courses or other Services shall remain vested in the owner be it Technical Rescue International, its Training Provider or others.

Where Services are distance learning products, then the Client shall abide by all reasonable terms of any licence agreement applicable.

Intellectual Property which is identified as, or can reasonably be deemed to be, confidential shall not be copied or reproduced or disclosed to any third party without the prior written consent of Technical Rescue International. The Client shall ensure that its employees and all those under the Client's control and supervision comply with this obligation.

Where Services are provided to the specification or special requirements of the Client, the Client shall indemnify Technical Rescue International against all costs, claims and damages incurred or arising out of any alleged infringements of Intellectual Property.